

MUSIC :: CD REVIEW

Attractive Eighties Women :: Coup D'e Ta-Ta's

Attractive Eighties Women

Coup D'e Ta-Ta's
Mammogram Music

Who knew Phoebe Cates, Shelley Long, and a bunch of other hot eighties bitches were still kickin' it on the mock-rock scene? The debut album from Attractive Eighties Women, Coup D'e Ta-Ta's, is a dynamic recipe made with one part gnarly rock, one part social cynicism, and shaken with a mad dash of the lol's. Think of that band you were in during high school all grown up and actually making music that people want to hear. Non-Atlantan's may miss references to local hipster hotspots, like MJQ, Decatur Social Club, and the Murder Kroger on Ponce. But as self-described "post-Gwar Kiss revivalists" with songs like "Mama, Get a Mammogram" and "Pandamonium?" Anyone that hates pandas or is willing to laugh can appreciate the biting tunes of these babes.

- Lyndsey Sargent

Related Links

- Attractive Eighties Women official site